About this book

A planned guide to people, culture, production, local strengths and proposed Norisha support across the former Western province area.

Regional purpose

This introduction considers the people, cultural life, local production and opportunities of its assigned region. It brings community needs and local strengths into the same discussion, alongside Norisha's intended responses and the evidence needed to evaluate them.

The region name is an internal Norisha coordination label based on a former province area. It does not rename official counties or wards. A regional coordinator's planned responsibility covers the whole assigned area; actual staffing, resources and interventions remain subject to approved plans.
